MIDLAND GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY NEWSLETTER

Volume IX, No. 2

November 1938

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

We had a fantastic number of people at our September meeting. Many searching experiences were shared by those in attendance.

Ruth Ann Casadonte, Marion Berry, and Betty Bellous lead a "Presentation on Genealogy" October 22. There were 12 people attending the session at the library.

I wish to extend to Esme Gehoski, Mary Card, and Maxine McCullen a tremendous THANK YOU for presiding at a display October 1 and 2 at the Chippewa Nature Center's Harvest Festival. Dressed in period regalia, they answered many questions about genealogy and passed out information. They also had family charts for people to view. The Nature Center would like this to be an annual event on our calendar. This was an excellent opportunity to be out in public for people to get acquainted with the Society.

A correction is in order. Judy Anderson is the 1988/99 Historian for the Society.

It is my pleasure to announce that all the cemetery books are now sold. There are copies of the census book available through Jo Brines.

It is necessary for me to ask again for a volunteer or two. The newsletter needs an editor for the last two issues - February and April. The deadline for material to be submitted is the 15th of the previous month.

Happy holidays,

Bob Keicher

PROGRAM NOTES

The fairly large group that attended the October meeting in spite of the third game of the World Series being played that night enjoyed an interesting account of the highlights of Midland County history while hearing how Salt of the Earth came into being. Author and journalist Dorothy Yates captivated her audience with authenticity, charm, and humor, as she told tales of Midland County's pioneer, lumbering, and early developing days. She represented the gracious lady of the past in her beaded with lace, black gown, shawl and tiny parasol.

Copies of the story of Midland County's history, Salt of the Earth, are available.

November 16: Joan Somerville of the Dow Memorial Library, will speak on "New Genealogical Books, Library Building Update, and the New Computer System in the Library."

FEDERATION OF GENEALOGICAL SOCIETIES

HONORS LIBRARY OF MICHIGAN

In recognition of its outstanding contributions to the genealogical community, the Library of Michigan received the 1988 Director's Award from the Federation of Genealogical Societies, Davenport, Iowa.

Basis for the Library's selection was its conversion of all genealogical titles into an online catalog, extended public hours and its expansion into the new Michigan Library and Historical Center building at 717 West Allegan Street, Lansing.

The Library also has received the largest grant ever awarded by the Talbert and Leota Abrams Foundation of Lansing to purchase extensive genealogy and local history collections on microfiche and 1860 printed census indexes.

In addition, the Foundation has funded Library research for publications on "Michigan Cemeteries: A Comprehensive Guide" and "Michigan 1870 Census Index".

(..from news release: John Rummel, Public Information Officer, Library of Michigan).

The Library of Michigan is on the move". As of September 9 the collection was being transported to its new quarter. Although the Genealogy Section will be the last to go, if you are planning on researching there you should call first - (517) 373-1593. The City Directories have been taken already. It will be four to six weeks before the Genealogy Collection will be ready for use. (MGC NEWSLETTER SUMMER 1988)

As an aid to those researching Midland County, the Society, under the leadership of Nancy Lackie, is indexing the obituaries from Midland newspapers. The month, day, and page number of the newspaper is listed, thus making it easy to find the obituary in the paper.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS FOR GENEALOGISTS

1. I will share my findings with others who are researching the same surname.
2. I will never write a letter, expecting an answer, without enclosing a long SASE (self-addressed, stamped envelope).
3. I will never write anyone, saying "Send me all you have on this surname."
4. When writing and asking for genealogical information, I will not ramble. I will keep my questions brief, to the point, and specific.
5. I will always include money with my request for a copy of any document.
6. I will try to learn all I can about family lineage searching, before writing for information, to avoid asking for unreasonable or non-existent records.
7. I will document, by source (book, page number, author, etc., every bit of information I find.
8. I will learn how to use the card catalog of all libraries I visit.
9. I will not allow an older relative to get older before I interview them for family information.
10. I will read at least one "How To" book this year, or make more frequent use of "How To" books available at the public library.
11. I will not allow myself to become discouraged or frustrated in my research. When unable to progress on one surname, I will research another.
12. As the family genealogist I will always keep two questions in mind: If not I, then who? If not today, then when?
